O R D E R:

Article 23 of the Constitution of India prohibits forced labour except ~~xxx~~ legally authorised compulsory service for public purposes and any contravention of this will be punishable under section 374 of the I.P.C. The utilisation of free service of labourers by Government servants on tour or otherwise is therefore objectionable and the Government direct that if such practices exist anywhere they should be put a stop to at once. Heads of Departments are accordingly requested to issue necessary instructions in this respect to all their touring officers.
